The Naughty Boy

0424CH09

There was a naughty boy,
And a naughty boy was he.
He ran away to Scotland,
The people there to see –
Then he found
That the ground
Was as hard,
That a yard
Was as long,
That a song
Was as merry,

That a cherry
Was as red,
That lead
Was as weighty,
That fourscore
Was as eighty,
That a door was as wooden
As in England—
So he stood in his shoes
And he wondered,
He wondered,
He stood in his shoes,
And he wondered.

— John Keats

Pinocchio

Once upon a time, an old carpenter bought a very queer piece of wood. As he used his plane on it, he heard a little laughing voice say, "Stop! You're tickling me."

The old man was puzzled by the voice.

He said, "This is a strange piece of wood. What shall I do with it? I think I'll make it into a puppet."

He set to work, and as the puppet boy took shape, the old man said, "He must have a name. I will call him Pinocchio."

As soon as he finished making the eyes, the carpenter was amazed to see them move.

Before the mouth was made, it began to laugh. "Stop laughing!" the old man said.

It did stop, but as soon as his back was turned, it put out its tongue. And its nose grew long.

No sooner were its hands ready than it snatched off the carpenter's wig and put it on its own head. And then Pinocchio's nose grew longer.

When its legs and feet were made, they were too stiff to use, so the carpenter showed Pinocchio how to use them.

Now, the carpenter decided to send Pinocchio to school. But there, Pinocchio did nothing but look for fun. He often ran away from school.

"Why don't you go to school?" asked the carpenter. Pinocchio told him a lie... and his nose started growing longer and longer.

Each time he was rude to someone or told a lie, his nose grew longer. Finally Pinocchio said, "I'm glad to be a real boy. I'll never lie again."

Comprehension passage

Once a cunning jackal jumped into a big tub of blue dye.

"I am your king," he said. All the animals, big and small believed him and bowed before him. The clever jackal smiled. Now he was the most powerful animal in the forest. He was proud to be a king.

Once, the jackal woke up in the middle of the night. The jackals in the forest were howling at the full moon in the sky. The blue jackal forgot he was a king. He, too, began to howl.

"Hu...aah! Hu...aah!" he cried.

The animals ran out to see. "He is not a king. He is just a jackal!" they shouted. They rushed to attack him.

"Stop, stop! I am sorry I tricked you. Please do not kill me!" said the blue jackal.

The animals forgave him, but only after giving the jackal a good beating.

– A Panchtantra tale

Reading is fun

1. Why did the animals think that the jackal was a king?
2. How did the jackal become blue?
3. What did the animals do when they saw the blue jackal?
4. Why did the dogs feel scared when they saw the jackal?
5. How did the animals know that the king was just a jackal?

Unit 9

Poem : The Naughty Boy
Story: Pinocchio

By this Unit the children would have enriched their vocabulary through telling, retelling and reading aloud of poems, stories, folk tales in English. They would also use appropriate spoken and written language in meaningful contents/situations. Give children opportunities to listen to sound/sound techniques and appreciate the rhythm and music of rhymes – sounds.

Teachers in the entire country welcome puppets into the classroom, they preserve traditions and make them a vital part of everyday learning. Puppets can be used to explain, describe, direct, tell stories, ask questions and create dramatic situations where children respond.

Puppets can provide children with many opportunities to expand language skills and challenge their imaginations. Students can develop confidence talking through the characters of puppets.

Transference of language one to language two will now be felt only if your observation about each child in your group is relevant. We are giving you a mere guideline to follow. This assessment should be more on the patterns of –

1. your observation of the child as an individual and as a team member in a group.
2. determining the cause of the child's school-related difficulties.
3. understanding her/his individual learning style.
4. consultation with parents/other teachers to review assessment findings and determining an appropriate intervention plan.

Areas to assess children for	Your Observation for*
1. Warm up time Getting prepared for class	attention span
2. Listening time Listening to the teacher	participation
3. Reading time	word recognition
4. Sharing time Speaking their thoughts	memory/language
5. Creative time Creating their own space	organisation
6. Language corner Writing their own script	writing /imagination
7. Environment Caring for their environment	early habits

- Do check the children's readiness for each stage before you assess them.
