

CLASS XI PSYCHOLOGY Assignment 3 The Bases Of Human Behaviour

1. What is a synapse? Give its diagrammatical representation.
2. 'Human nervous system is the most complex and most developed of all living creatures.' Explain its working with the help of a model.
3. Differentiate between sympathetic and parasympathetic nervous system.
4. Which part of the brain regulates the cognitive abilities of an individual? What are its other functions?
5. Explain the functions location in the body and working of the following glands:-
(a) Adrenal glands (b) thyroid glands (c) pituitary gland
6. 'According to the various psychologists, our genes and chromosomes are responsible for our behaviour.' Justify the statement.
7. 'Enculturation refers to all learning that takes place without direct, deliberate teaching.' Explain the various concepts that develop through enculturation.
8. How do parents and schools act as a major socialisation agents in a child's life?
9. 'Rahul is an 18 yr old boy, who was studying in India till 2004. He had to migrate to UK for better prospects in his job and for growth. Now he is facing a lot of difficulty in adjustments in his new environment and people.'

Identify the situation given above and explain the concept in detail.

10. How is assimilation different from Separation? Give examples.