Foreword

The Indian textile and fashion industry contributes substantially to its exports earnings. It is also the second largest domestic employer after agriculture. The garment industry is classified into organized and unorganized sectors catering to a diverse consumer segment. The unorganized segment comprises small-scale readymade apparel stores, independent fabric and tailoring shops etc. The organized sector comprises single-brand or multi-brand retail outlets, designer boutiques etc. to cater to different strata of consumers. The domestic apparel market is expected to grow @ 11% CAGR primarily driven by high value growth due to organized and branded segment. The Indian textile and apparel trade is estimated at USD 662 billion in 2011 and is expected to grow at 5% CAGR by 2021. Employment in the Indian textile and apparel sector stands at 45 million with an additional employment of 60 million in allied sectors.

The Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) has taken the initiative of developing a range of vocational courses in areas of emerging interest for those students who may not pursue higher education due to financial constraints or for any other reason. In keeping with this objective, the vocational course on Fashion Design Garment Technology (FDGT) for students of Std XI and XII offers an option to those who would like to enter the fashion industry right after completion of secondary level of education. While academic courses have more theory-based curricular content and do not develop extensive hands-on skill competency, it is envisaged that vocational courses will inculcate not only knowledge but also the related skills which are required by specific industry segments. The FDGT course combines a gamut of theoretical with practical inputs in order to enable students to gain professional competency education in the area of fashion design and garment technology.

The content of the subject is the outcome of consultative discussions among CBSE officials and teachers, senior NIFT faculty members and alumni, industry members representing the export and domestic garment sector including fashion designers.

The Board would like to place on record the support received from Shri P K Gera, IAS, Director General NIFT and Sr. Prof Banhi Jha, Dean - Academic. We also acknowledge the contribution of Sr. Prof. Banhi Jha, Prof. Vandana Narang - Project Anchor, Prof. Malini D, Dr. Rajitha & Mr. K.D. Sharma faculty of NIFT for their time and effort in developing the FDGT textbooks for Std XII. The contribution of Dr. Biswajit Saha, Additional Director and Ms. Swati Gupta, Deputy Director Vocational Education Cell, CBSE is also deeply appreciated.

Any suggestions and feedback from the readers for improvement in the future editions of the subject is welcome.

Shri Vineet Joshi
Chairman, CBSE

Preamble

Textile products play a vital role in meeting man's basic needs. Often interpreted only as clothing the usage of textiles goes beyond the scope of just clothing. The use of textiles has been traced back over 8500 years and fabric forms the base of fashion. Fashion and textiles sector is very dynamic, and is constantly changing in response to the demands of the global marketplace. The common theme running throughout these areas is an understanding of the properties of fibers, yarn and fabric composition and its value addition.

Fashion Design and Technology as a profession includes the entire process of designing and producing fashion apparel for which an understanding of the fibre, yarn and fabric and their properties is essential. The subjects of this course provide an insight on usage of fabrics and the basic techniques of value addition through embroidery, dyeing and printing. The main objective of the course is to develop professional competency in the field of textiles - its appreciation, understanding of various techniques of surface ornamentation, and exploration of traditional techniques of embroidery.

Fabric study as a course introduces the students to fundamental aspects of textiles, appreciation, ornamentation and value addition. The students develop the skill of handling and using fabric in various aspects of design and also provide a direction to choose their career for further studies.
