One sample answer has been provided to you for your reference. Students are advised to write the answer based on their own creative and imaginative skill.*

Once upon a time, there lived two white ducks and a talkative tortoise. They were best friends. They were playing with each other near the pond. One day, they found there was not a single drop for them to drink. They decided to go to the nearby lake to live there permanently. But there was one problem, the tortoise did not know how to fly while the ducks did.

The tortoise came up with an idea. He said that he will hold the stick from the middle with his teeth while the two ducks hold the stick from both the ends. In this way, they all can fly together and reach the lake. But the tortoise was very talkative. He opened his mouth to speak in the middle of the flight. As a result, he fell on the ground and died and the two ducks reached the lake safely.
